

G

Hi, I can't believe it's been 3 years (well technically over 3 years) since I fell in love with this human being that's probably one of the kindest soul in the universe. It still surprises me that I have you in my life. We fell in love at the age of 22, amidst a pandemic, not knowing where it will lead us. Not understanding how strong it would get and how intense our emotions would be towards each other. It's what I love most about us, the kind of emotion we feel when we look at each other or even just hold hands. This feeling of being complete and connected, I don't think I can ever explain it but I know it in my heart that you feel the same way and I think that's how it is when you meet your soulmate. The kind of love that completely consumes you and at the same time gives you the strength to conquer anything you want.

3 years of togetherness, sneaking in, long drives, long distance, vacations, fights, drunk conversations, texting for hours, going to so many restaurants, playing ball and making love to you. I couldn't have hoped for a better time and better memories. Thank you for everything you've done for me, for us. Thank you for always being there and without a doubt making me feel so secure and comfortable. Thank you for letting me be me and thank you for accepting me in my most vulnerable moments.

This time together is what helped me make my decision about going all the way with you, be it having a long long distance or spending every moment possible with you.

If I haven't said it before, it's you all the way, until death do us apart and making this decision was the easiest I ever had to make and it's all because of you, your nature and your love for me. I believe in us more than anything in this world and I hope you do the same too.

You've made me realise my worth and I hope one day I do too. You made me realise that I am enough and that I can be loved so intensely and purely. I hope to stand by you during every emotion and every thought that crosses your mind. We both have let each other into our lives and It has been nothing but blissful. I hope I can show you the same kind of affection you have let me feel.

It still amuses me how we're so different and yet so alike, like different things and yet love everything about each other. I love how everything around me lights up when I see you across the room, how just hearing your voice makes my day and hugging you gives me the kind strength and comfort which I didn't know I was capable of.

I look forward to what the future holds for us and I will do everything in my power to give you the love you deserve. You're worth everything and above everything and I hope you know that.

Falling in love with you is the best thing that's ever happened to me. You've changed me the way, how opening a window changes a dark room.

Thank you for existing
I love you, my love

- yours truly